Course description and objectives

The material of Islamic paintings is based on the knowledge of the first origins of the art of painting and tracing its roots, and the sources on which these foundations were based. Our curriculum begins with the general arts in the Arabian Peninsula and the art of paintings in various Islamic capitals and cities, which in turn led to the emergence of so-called Islamic painting schools whose names, were taken from the names of the cities that they invented. Which we need to identify those schools and the most important names and places of emergence and spread, and what are the characteristics that characterized each of these schools. With reference and identification of the manuscripts of each school according to the historical sequence. The aim of the course of the manuscript and Islamic paintings course after the completion of the course is to become acquainted with the different stages of the art of paintings and the different paintings schools that can identify each one by looking at their miniatures based on their technical characteristics he studied it.

Methods

In order to obtain optimal results in increasing the students' knowledge of manuscripts and their miniatures, this study depends on the student's vision of samples of manuscripts. This requires a trip to the Center of Manuscripts in the National Manuscript Center of the General Authority for Antiquities and Heritage of Iraq.
